Toilet Niceties

THERE ARE SO MANY little niceties to a woman's toilet, that it is an enormous temptation to spend all one's allowance in buying the charming little accessories to the toilet table, and much of one's time in making use of these little dainties.

There are, of course, the numberless sachets and powders and perfumes and such for the dresser. Then for the extremely fastidious woman who does not care to use her own powder puff twice, lest it acquire dust in the meantime, there are jars with holes in the top, through which one can pull out individual puffs of absorbent cotton, and use them for puffs. Or, there are chiffon bags containing puffs of absorbent cotton tied with tiny ribbon bows, to be used once, and then thrown away.

For the bath, are bottles of violet ammonia, to soften and perfume the water, and bags of violet-scented sea salt, invigorating, healthy and delightful.

For days when it is hot, when you are tired and your face feels and looks worn out, take a bit of absorbent cotton, soak it with toilet water, and wipe off the whole face. This soothes and cools, removes dust and wipes out many of the tired lines. It evaporates quickly of course, but still leaves about you a trace of fragrance that will feel charming. Many women wipe their faces this way just before a dance, then dust on a tiny bit of powder, though the water has taken all the shyness look away. They claim this makes them look much fresher and prettier. Of course, no other perfume would be permissible, not even on the handkerchief.

Questions and Answers

I am told I eat too much; but there is always such a gnawing hunger in me that I cannot stop. I always eat more than I need for me. What foods could I eat of to satisfy hunger without burdening digestion?—Dorothy.

FROM THE FEMININE POINT OF VIEW

The long black jet earrings that are ubiquitous at present are a very becoming addition to the beauteous and beige tinted frocks now worn, and particularly in the case of the blonde woman. Hat pins to match are the correct completion.

Why brush the hair down after parting it in the old-fashioned manner? It was a soothing process, this regular swinging stroke of the brush, and a good cure for tangled nerves. But under the new auspices the hair is brushed for its own beauty's sake and not as a nerve cure. Tossing it about like hay and separating it strand by strand, the hair specialist lets the sun and the air play with it, then it is brushed outward and upwards, so that it rises as if vitalized by electricity like a nimbus round the head.

The clothes moth is likely to cause a good deal of damage at this time of year unless all articles it is likely to attack have been put away carefully. Camphor, pepper, benzine and naphtha are all valuable preventives against moths attacking furs, but the easiest of all ways is to send them, as soon as the hot weather sets in, to the scientifically constructed freezing stores at our big shops, where the dry, cold atmosphere effectually arrests the beginning of any trouble.

A Useful Hint
The new cushions that have washable covers for summer use are very attractive. There is scarcely one in chairs or groutone which does not show a black and white stripe or check as a background for colored flowers, or else a white and black background, with a spot of black or white. The squares of cretonne with rounded corners are liked, but the majority of the new cushions are round. Those with black or brown and white stripes show ovals or medallions of brilliant flowers and colored birds.

A certain milliner has a clever way of refreshing black straw hats by an application of methylated spirit in which a quantity of black wax has been dissolved.

Put the spirit into a bottle and then break the sealing wax into small pieces and add it. Shake the bottle constantly and when the sealing wax is melted the "refresher" is ready for use. It can be applied with a small brush.

This season it is the easiest thing in the world to copy the expensive hats because they are either trimmed with ribbons and flowers or not trimmed at all.

One of the favorite hat trimmings of the moment consists of picot ribbons in a subtle shade of blue and clusters of shaded roses. The ribbons are twisted round the high crown of the hat—the high crown being an established favorite—and then tied in a large bow at one side. A cluster of loose roses is laid flat on the brim, nestling in loops of ribbons—and the hat is trimmed. Last year's sailor hats can be brought up to date by the insertion of a band of buckram to lighten the crown, the band being covered by a bias fold of velvet or a length of ribbon.

PEEK-A-BOO COAT FOR MEN

MAKES ITS NEW YORK DEBUT

NEW YORK, N. Y.—New York is about to be treated with an entirely new idea in clothes for men. Senor Juan Gorgenez of Havana, Cuba, is the originator of the idea.

Senor Gorgenez is a well-to-do tobacco merchant who recently retired to make a trip around the world. When he reached Madrid the heat was so intense that he invented what he calls the Sandal coat. He has just brought it to New York.

It is of black alpaca and has half sleeves. In the front and back strips of cloth are missing which gives a startling pink and white silk shirt a chance to peep through the slits. Senor Gorgenez says that everybody is wearing them in Madrid.

EDNA LOFTUS BURIED IN 'FRISCO CEMETERY

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal.—Edna Loftus, one-time favorite of the London music halls, has been buried here in Cypress Lawn cemetery. Suffering from tuberculosis, she had been taken several days ago to the city and county hospital, where she died. Since her divorce from Harry A. Rheinstrom, son of a wealthy Cincinnati brewer, in 1914, she had made her home in San Francisco.

Reply—None. Drink more, eat less. Drink two quarts of water a day; this will destroy the great hunger that is only the result and the sign of dyspepsia. Drinking plenty of water will take the keen edge off your appetite. Eat foods containing plenty of liquids as well.

Wiping the face with perfume is refreshing

Do you advise face masks for bleaching the skin?—Adriest.

Reply—I never advise anything complicated and artificial. If something simple and natural will answer in its place, I have told about these face masks, but my advice is always to lead the simple life that results in natural beauty.
